As we see at the top left that the whole world is suffering from COVID-19, but there are some countries that are suffering the most which are the United states followed by 2 and 3. At bottom right we can see the total cases and deaths across each continent, we see that Europe is at the top followed by Asia and North America. Also we can see the life Expectancy across each continent at the top right, and the total population of each continent at bottom left.

At the top we can see that the new cases and new deaths started rising up from the start of 2020(the start of the virus), until the start of 2021 the new deaths started to go down as the vaccine is released, also the effect of the second wave is obvious by the start of 2022. At the bottom we can see that the cases in first wave at just rising up and the curve started rising up until the second wave but it returned to go down quickly(thanks to the awareness of the first wave).

At top left we can see at first that there is no vaccinated people till the start of 2021(it do make sence as the vaccine wasn't released), and then the people started to take the vaccine(curve started rising up fast), that cused the deaths curve to stop rising and starts to go down and down until the virus stopped spreading(we can see this at bottom). Also from the beginning of the virus and after it stopped spreding the Handwashing was in increase(as it was one of the awareness instructions).
